

Printable version

FRIDAY 19 May

FRIDAY 10h00-11h00

- [1] Measuring the rift (New School Hall): Politically, socially and economically, it seems there is an ever-widening rift between South Africans. Rebecca Davis (Best Whites) asks journalist and agricultural economist Tracy Ledger (An Empty Plate) and international relations and African diplomacy scholar Oscar van Heerden (Consistent or Confused) how far we are from equality, and what it looks like.
- [2] An appetite for success (Old School Hall): Tamara LePine-Williams (ClassicFM) peels back the layers of Groendal's own Reuben Riffel (Reuben at Home) and his author Sam Wouldige to reveal this remarkable 'local to legend' story.
- [3] Finding the plot (Church Hall): Paige Nick (Dutch Courage) is on a quest to find a plot, with Francois Bloemhof (Double Echo), Mike Nicol (Agents of the State) and Martin Steyn (Dark Traces).
- [4] Writers in 140 characters (Congregational Church): Victor Dlamini meets up with Joanne Harris (A Different Class), Joanne Macgregor (Recoil Trilogy) and Pamela Power (Delilah Now Trending) to ask about using social media to connect with readers.
- [5] A colonial legacy (Council Chamber): Rustum Kozain in conversation with Antjie Krog about one of her most acclaimed poetry collections, recently re-released, Lady Anne: A Chronicle in Verse.
- [6] Authors in conversation: (Hospice Hall) Michiel Heyns (I Am Pandarus) and SJ Naude (The Third Reel) discuss their writing, their new books and what it means to be a professional author.
- [7] Worlds apart: (Elephant & Barrel): Speculative fiction authors Helen Brain, Marcus Low, Diane Awerbuck and Alex Latimer use their genre to explore the modern crises of isolation and social disparity.

FRIDAY 11h30-12h30

- [8] History on trial (New School Hall): Judge Dennis Davis hears the stories of two extraordinary writers, Deborah Lipstadt (Denial: Holocaust History on Trial) and Philippe Sands (East West Street), whose works chronicle the fight to establish and defend international laws for human rights and justice.
- [9] Hawk's eye view (Old School Hall): General Johan Booysen and author Jessica Pitchford (Blood on Their Hands) share his side of the story in this shocking true tale power and politics, deceit and betrayal, with BDFM Editor-in-chief Peter Bruce asking the questions.
- [10] Love reading, love writing (Church Hall): Joanne Hichens (Die Laughing) speaks to Nandipha Tshabane, Ndibulele Sotondoshe and Sicelo Kula about how their writing came to be published in Love Reading, an anthology of poetry, prose and nonfiction, published by the FundZa Literacy Trust and Cover-to-Cover.
- [11] Writing the past; imagining the future (Congregational Church): Thandeka Gqubule (No Longer Whispering to Power: The Story of Thuli Madonsela) speaks to Mamphela Ramphele (Dreams, Betrayal and Hope), Mary Ingouville Burton (The Truth and Reconciliation Commission) and Rafique Gangat (Bending the Rules) about how their experiences influence their thoughts on South Africa's future.

FRIDAY 11h30 – 12h30

[12] Is there a shortage of black fiction authors? (Council Chamber) This is the question publisher Michele Magwood (Sunday Times Contributing Books Editor) asks of fellow publishers Phehello Mofokeng (Geko Publishing), Thabiso Mahlape (BlackBird Books) and short story writer Lidudumalingani Mqombothi (2016 Caine Prize Winner).

[13] The stories of history (Hospice Hall): How do we understand our human past? Historian Bill Nasson (History Matters) asks researcher Christa Kuljian (Darwin's Hunch), Francis Wilson (Dinosaurs, Diamonds & Democracy) and novelist Harry Kalmer (A Thousand Tales of Johannesburg) about the search for truth through science and fiction.

[14] Giving Back Childhood (Ebony Gallery): Contributors, and organisers of the Red Cross Children's Hospital Fund, discuss the childhood memories and recipes of 50 South African heroes, in a beautiful collection commissioned by the Fund to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the hospital. Includes yummy snacks! R100 through Webtickets.

[15] A fabric of society (Elephant & Barrel): isiShweshwe The History and Indigenisation of Blueprint in Southern Africa, as presented by the author Juliette Leeb-Du Toit.

[16] Workshop: Travel and feature writing with Paul Ash (Franschhoek Library): Seasoned journalist and editor of the Sunday Times Travel supplement Paul Ash takes participants on a journey in which they learn to distil their own life experiences into words that will entertain readers. The workshop will include practical advice on travel writing, how to write a personal story that speaks to others, how to structure a humorous column, plus tips on approaching media outlets with a view to publication. Participants will learn how to write in a way that shows - not tells - the reader the story. R150 through Webtickets. [11h30-14h00]

FRIDAY 13h00-14h00

[17] Spy vs spy: (New School Hall). With SAfm's Nancy Richards in the chair, Jonathan Ancer (Spy: Uncovering Craig Williamson) and Bridget Hilton-Barber (Student Comrade Prisoner Spy) talk about what it takes to research, remember and write about some of the villains and heroes of South Africa's recent history.

[18] Why are we still talking genre? (Old School Hall): Fred Strydom (Inside Out Man) leads the conversation with Steven Boykey Sidley (Free Association), Lesley Pearse (Dead to Me) and Richard Mason (Who Killed Piet Barol?) as they discuss labels, boxes and literature, and the books they have chosen to write.

[19] Eating Africa (Church Hall): From what we eat, to whether, one day, we'll have anything left to eat, author Tracy Ledger (An Empty Plate) opens the discussion with Leonie Joubert (The Hungry Season) and Anna Trapido and Mpho Tshukudu (Eat Ting) to consider the place food has in our lives and wellbeing.

[20] Are writers born or made? (Congregational Church): Bronwyn Law-Viljoen (The Printmaker) considers the ways writers find to practice their craft, with Ekow Duker (The God Who Made Mistakes), Miranda Sherry (Bone Meal for Roses) and Sindiwe Magona (Chasing the Tails of My Father's Cattle, and translator of Dinosaurs, Diamonds, and Democracy).

[21] Harry Potter on the couch (Council Chamber): Prolific author and psychologist Joanne Macgregor (Recoil Trilogy), delves into the mind of one the world's most beloved fictional heroes.

[22] The power to move us (Hospice Hall): Ishara Maharaj (Namaste Life) and Dennis Cruywagen (The Spiritual Mandela) discuss the joys and challenges of writing of spiritual matters in a contemporary world.

FRIDAY 13h00 – 14h00

[23] I write short stories because... (Elephant & Barrel): Are they easier than long fiction, more lucrative than nonfiction, more popular than Harry Potter? Jolyn Philips (Tjieng Tjang Tjerrie) asks fellow writers Harry Kalmer (A Thousand Tales of Johannesburg), Ken Barris (The Life of Worm and Other Misconceptions) and Marita van der Vyver (You Lost Me) what it is about this form that appeals to them as they discuss the challenges of writing in the short form.

FRIDAY 14h30-15h30

[24] The making of a judge (New School Hall): Justice Malala explores the people and places that helped define one of the country's top legal minds, Judge Dikgang Moseneke (My Own Liberator).

[25] Writing their continent (Old School Hall): Darrel Bristow-Bovey invites Philippa Namutebi Kabali-Kagwa (Flame and Song) and Abubakar Adam Ibrahim (Season of Crimson Blossoms) to share how they reveal their love and knowledge of Africa through fact and fiction.

[26] Killer women (Church Hall): Joanne Hichens asks crime writers Irna van Zyl (Dead in the Water), Karin Brynard (Our Fathers) and Sally Andrew (Tannie Maria & the Satanic Mechanic) about the role of women in detective and crime fiction, which fictional crime characters they love or hate, and how their own characters fit into this history.

[27] Researching history (Congregational Church): With historian Bill Nasson (History Matters) in the chair, biographer Elsabe Brits (Emily Hobhouse: Beloved Traitor), Mary Ingouville Burton (The Black Sash: Women for Justice and Peace) and Oscar van Heerden (Consistent or Confused) share how they go about researching the history of their stories of the past.

[28] I read what I like (Council Chamber): Sue de Groot (Sunday Times Lifestyle Editor) considers the trends in fiction and poetry and asks Antjie Krog (Lady Anne) and South African-Filipino poet Jim Pascual Agustin (Wings of Smoke) how these influence their reading and writing.

[29] Agents of change (Hospice Hall): Anastacia Tomson (Always Anastacia) leads the conversation with Sean Christie (Under Nelson Mandela Boulevard) and Sylvia Vollenhoven (The Keeper of the Kumm) about their experiences in writing their own stories.

[30] Through my eyes (Elephant & Barrel): Obie Oberholzer (Obie - A Photographic Story Book) finds the words to tell you about his life in pictures.

FRIDAY 16h00-17h00

[31] Science in Africa (New School Hall): Palesa Morudu contemplates the impact of science on the broader issues of race, space, identity and colonialism, with philosopher Jacques Rousseau and researcher Christa Kuljian (Darwin's Hunch).

[32] Double lives (Old School Hall): Most writers can't survive on writing alone. Mario Cesare (Heart of a Game Ranger) leads the conversation with lawyer Andrew Brown (Good Cop, Bad Cop), advertising executive Mark Winkler (The Safest Place You Know) and banker Tuelo Gabonewe (Sarcophagus) talk about how they survive as writers, and why they keep writing.

Friday 16h00 – 17h00

[33] Heroes at the end of the world (Church Hall): For every dystopian horror, there is a hero. Fred Strydom (Inside Out Man) asks fellow writers Diane Awerbuck, Helen Brain and Sam Wilson (Zodiac) about their favourite heroes and the role their own lead characters play in their latest works.

[34] Writing millennials (Congregational Church): Africa Melane asks authors JT Lawrence (Grey Magic), Kiprop Kimutai (The Water Spirits) and Miranda Sherry (Bone Meal for Roses) how they speak to and through this generation, and the challenges they face in doing so.

[35] The André Brink Memorial Lecture (Council Chamber): Karina Szczurek welcomes you to the third annual lecture in honour of her late husband. Victor Dlamini will deliver the lecture on: “André Brink, dissident, lover, dreamer had this to say: 'A country can't love you. At most it may need you. It's much the same as people.'”

[36] Stories in words and pictures (Hospice Hall): Journalist/illustrator/cartoonist Carlos Amato leads the conversation with writer/illustrator Alex Latimer (South), Dale Halvorsen (graphic novelist Joey Hi-fi) and Mieke van der Merwe (Beautiful South Africa) on how pictures create stories, and words create pictures in the mind of the reader.

[37] World building (Elephant & Barrel): Where do writers start when creating a fictional world? Pamela Power exchanges ideas about the creative impetus, the lifeblood of storytelling, with Marcus Low and Qarnita Loxton (Being Kari).

Friday evening events

[38] The Sudden Shark (Hospice Hall, 17h30-18h30): Journeying lightly through psychology, palaeontology, popular culture and the movie Jaws, Darrel Bristow-Bovey discusses fear, creativity, risk-taking and the artistic imperative of vulnerability, as well as his travels around the world to find and confront the shark that is predestined to eat him. R100 through Webtickets.

[39] Poetry: Grounding Sessions (Elephant & Barrel, 17h30-19h30): Cape Town poet Roché Kester brings Kyle Louw, Vusumuzi Mpofo and Chrystal Williams to her unique Grounding Sessions show. All poets and lovers of the spoken word are invited to join in the open-mic session, or just sit back and enjoy the magic. (To participate in the open mic, email Roche at groundingsessions@gmail.com.) R50 through Webtickets.

[40] Autumn music weekend concert #1: The French Piano (NK Church, Friday @ 19h00) Christopher Duigan plays a classical recital of French music by Claude Debussy, Maurice Ravel and Jean-Phillippe Rameau with compositions drawing inspiration from the East, the exotic underworld, and reflections of the magical world that surrounds us. R100 through Webtickets or pay at the door.

SATURDAY 20 May

SATURDAY 10h00-11h00

[41] On being a 'bookclub' writer' (New School Hall): The publishers' term 'a bookclub book' is commonly used when promoting books to booksellers. But what defines it, and do authors benefit from the distinction? Carol Mashigo (Mohale Mashigo, The Yearning) puts the questions to Joanne Harris (A Different Class), Lesley Pearce (Dead to Me) and Sophie Hannah (The Narrow Bed).

SATURDAY 10h00 – 11h00

[42] The media, bound and gagged (Old School Hall): For years, the threat of gagging the South African media has hovered. Rebecca Davis discusses the implications of such a move and whether the public appreciates the importance of a free media with Advocate Tembeka Ngcukaitobi, Thandeka Gqubule and Zapiro (Dead President Walking).

[43] Crime in the beloved country (Church Hall): Andrew Brown asks Anine Kriegler (A Citizen's Guide to Crime Trends in South Africa), Hennie van Vuuren (Apartheid, Guns and Money) and Ralph Mathekga (When Zuma Goes) how deep the criminal genes flow in the South African body politic.

[44] Can we make Africa great? (Congregational Church): Victor Dlamini asks former Nigerian President Olusegun Obasanjo and author Greg Mills (How to Make Africa Great) for their answers.

[45] The transformative power of reading (Council Chamber): Jacques Rousseau discusses the intellectual, social and personal impact of reading, with Bronwyn Law-Viljoen (The Printmaker) and Philippa Namutebi Kabali-Kagwa (Flame and Song).

[46] Straddling worlds (Hospice Hall): Wamuwi Mbao delves into stories of families with feet in the present and past, as told by Ekow Duker and Sindiwe Magona.

[47] Workshop: Writing your family history (Library Hall, 10h00-11h30): David Hilton-Barber has a decades-long career in researching, compiling and writing family histories. In this informative and inspiring workshop, he shares his wealth of knowledge with those who believe they have their own true tales to tell. Tickets R120 at Webtickets.

[48] My translator and me (Elephant & Barrel): In a global world, authors whose books are translated into many languages rely on the skill and sensitivity of another to do justice to their work. Ann Donald asks Ingrid Winterbach (The Shallows) and her translator Michiel Heyns (whose own work has been translated by others) about this critical relationship.

[48a] Autumn music weekend concert #2: Two Flutes and Guitar (NGK Church, Saturday @ 11h00) Duo Zomari, Bridget Rennie-Salonen (flute) and guitarist James Grace, are joined by Catherine Stephenson (flute) in a programme of music ranging from JS Bach to music with a strong Latin-American flavour. This includes Maximo Diego-Pujol's 'Suite Buenos Aires' and Piazzolla's 'Histoire du Tango'. R100. Book at Webtickets or pay at the door.

SATURDAY 11h30-12h30

[49] A series of extraordinary coincidences (New School Hall): Practising barrister, human rights activist and 2016 winner of the UK Baillie Gifford Prize for Non-Fiction, Philippe Sands (East West Street) shares how he came to write this gripping part historical detective story, part family history and part legal thriller set around the Nuremberg Trials.

[50] I started writing when... (Old School Hall): Tamara LePine-Williams takes novelists Neil Sonnekus (Son), Marita van der Vyver (You Lost Me) and Richard Mason (Who Killed Piet Barol?) back to the beginning.

[51] Movement of Objects (Church Hall): Movement Cape Town editor Zahira Asmal leads Albie Sachs, Bonita Bennett, Wandile Kasibe and Chumani Maxwele in conversation about the impact of forced removals, repatriation, human remains and colonial statues, and why history must be represented and remembered equally for justice to be served and for society to progress.

SATURDAY 11h30-12h30

[52] The columnist party #1 (Congregational Church): Michele Magwood leads the conversation with Justice Malala, Tom Eaton and Marianne Thamm as they discuss the power and responsibilities of opinion pieces – and why readers should always keep an open mind.

[53] Whose right to write? (Council Chamber): Cultural appropriation is the subject of controversy across the world. Hagen Engler (In the Maid's Room) considers the issues with Anastacia Tomson (Always Anastacia) and Lerato Tshabalala (The Way I See It).

[54] One voice, two authors (Hospice Hall): Sue de Groot asks co-writers Diane Awerbuck and Alex Latimer (Frank Owen, South), and Michael Sears (one half of Michael Stanley, Detective Kubu), how they make it work.

[55] In the beginning: page one, line one (The Hub): Faced with a blank page, Mark Winkler asks SJ Naude, Sylvia Vollenhoven and Tim Butcher how they get started on a new book.

[56] Writing through the ages (Elephant & Barrel): The burgeoning Young Adult genre has drawn an older readership too. Joanne Macgregor asks authors Helen Brain, Kiprop Kimutai and JT Lawrence who they have in mind when writing, how this influences their work, and what they make of the collateral readers.

SATURDAY 13h00-14h00

[57] Leadership in times of conflict (New School Hall): Victor Dlamini asks Khulu Mbatha (Unmasked: Why the ANC Failed to Govern), Ralph Matheka (When Zuma Goes) and Thandeka Gqubule (No Longer Whispering to Power: The Story of Thuli Madonsela) what characteristics are needed in leaders during tough times, and whether our top names are up to the task.

[58] Writing with ghosts (Old School Hall): Nick Mulgrew chairs co-author Alison Lowry (Shadow Play, with Gerald Kraak), bestselling author Sophie Hannah (Closed Casket, The Monogram Murders, Agatha Christie) and biographer Elsabe Brits (Emily Hobhouse: Beloved Traitor) in a discussion about the responsibilities of representing those who are no longer with us.

[59] Making South Africa work (Church Hall): Brian Kantor (Get South Africa Growing) asks Sifiso Ndlovu (co-editor, The Thabo Mbeki I Know), Chantell Ilbury (A Fox's Tale, with Daryl Ilbury) and Richard Calland (Make or Break) what mindsets and strategies are necessary for creating a successful business and building a strong economy.

[60] The Karoo as muse (Congregational Church): The Karoo holds a special fascination, and has provided inspiration, for many writers, among them Sally Andrew, Tom Dreyer (The Long Wave) and Marcus Low, who share their thoughts about this region with Kate Sidley.

[61] The African literary explosion (Council Chamber): Across our continent, more writers are writing and more readers reading. Griffin Shea (owner, Bridge Books) chats with Abubakar Adam Ibrahim, Kiprop Kimutai and Phehello Mofokeng (Geko Publishing) about the driving forces of, and the obstacles to, book publishing and sales in Africa.

[62] Telling my South Africa (Hospice Hall): Paul McNally (The Street) and Qarnita Loxton have unique views of the country they grew up in. Ekow Duker leads the discussion into how they truly view South Africa and what brought them to tell the stories they tell.

SATURDAY 13h00 – 14h00

[63] Dark things brought to light (Elephant & Barrel): Fred Strydom (Inside Out Man), Dawn Garisch (Accident) and Dale Halvorsen (Survivors' Club with Lauren Beukes) discuss the darker side of human nature as reflected in their writing, and why readers feel the need to be disturbed.

SATURDAY 14h30-15h30

[64] How powerful are Constitutions? (New School Hall): Tembeka Ngcukaitobi speaks to three human rights advocates – former Constitutional Court Judge Albie Sachs, author Deborah Lipstadt and author and professor of law at University College London Philippe Sands – about the role of a country's constitution in protecting human rights.

[65] Lesley Pearse in her own words (Old School Hall): Bestselling romance writer Lesley Pearse (Dead to Me) doesn't do boring, so expect a rollicking discussion when she meets up with Jenny & Co bookclub founder Jenny Crwys-Williams.

[66] This is how I write (Church Hall): Is there a secret to writing, and what are the strategies, techniques or skills that writers draw on to practise their craft? Daniel Browde (The Relatively Public Life of Jules Browde) leads the conversation with Claire Robertson (The Magistrate of Gower), Fiona Melrose (Midwinter) and Richard Mason (Who Killed Piet Barol?).

[67] The columnist party # 2 (Congregational Church): Darrel Bristow-Bovey (Getaway magazine) asks Fred Khumalo (The Big Read), Paige Nick (She Said/He Said) and Rebecca Davis (Lifestyle TV column) how writing columns changes the way they see the world, and how their columns change the way the world sees them.

[68] The craft of reading (Council Chamber): Is there an ideal way to read a book? Steven Boykey Sidley asks Ann Donald and Bill Nasson about slow reading, skim reading, deep reading, and why reading?

[69] The perils of memoir (Hospice Hall): Led by Bridget Hilton-Barber (Student Comrade Prisoner Spy), Anastacia Tomson (Always Anastacia), Mario Cesare (Heart of a Game Ranger) and Rafique Gangat (Bending the Rules) share their experiences of writing their own stories.

[70] What is feminism, and who 'owns' it? (Ebony Gallery): Helen Moffett (Prunings) asks the questions of poet and singer Blaq Pearl and Thabiso Mahlape (BlackBird Books).

[71] Through my eyes (Elephant & Barrel): Obie Oberholzer (Obie - A Photographic Story Book) finds the words to tell you about his life in pictures.

SATURDAY 16h00-17h00

[72] Joanne Harris in her own words (New School Hall): Moving with ease from the whimsical charm of Chocolat to writing fantasies and thrillers, including Gentlemen and Players and its recent follow-up, Different Class, Joanne Harris talks about her writing life with Sunday Times Contributing Book Editor Michele Magwood.

[73] From victim to survivor (Old School Hall): Michelle Hattingh (I'm the Girl Who Was Raped) uncovers stories of courage, faith and perseverance in the face of opposition and adversity as told by Grizelda Grootboom (Exit), Lindiwe Hani (Being Chris Hani's Daughter) and Shamim Meer (Memories of Love and Struggle).

SATURDAY 16h00 – 17h00

[74] Wording their eats (Church Hall): Tamara LePine-Williams is at the table with Anna Trapido and Mpho Tshukudu (co-authors of Eat Ting) and Sam Woulidge (Reuben at Home), talking of their methods and sharing titbits about writing cookbooks.

[75] Drawn and quartered (Congregational Church): Mail & Guardian cartoonist, illustrator and journalist Carlos Amato finds out about the people behind the pictures, with graphic novelist Alex Latimer (The Space Race), graphic artist Dale Halvorsen (aka Joey Hi-fi) and political cartoonist Zapiro (Dead President Walking).

[76] Who can afford to buy books? (Council Chamber): Tom Eaton considers the limits to accessing books in South Africa with Griffin Shea (Bridge Books) and Palesa Morudu (publisher, Cover2Cover).

[77] Married to your job (Hospice Hall): Greg Fried and Lisa Lazarus (Die Laughing – writing as Greg Lazarus) and Nicoli Natrass and Jeremy Seekings (Poverty, Politics and Policy) discuss the challenges and joys of being both life and writing partners.

[78] Crossing the arts (Elephant & Barrel): 'Polyartists' Carol Mashigo (actor/writer), Rian Malan (writer/musician) and Sam Wilson (film producer /writer) tell Africa Melane about the crossover between their various artistic lives and what they mean to them.

SATURDAY Evening Events

[78a] The Sudden Shark (Hospice Hall, 17h30-18h30): Journeying lightly through psychology, palaeontology, popular culture and the movie Jaws, Darrel Bristow-Bovey discusses fear, creativity, risk-taking and the artistic imperative of vulnerability, as well as his travels around the world to find and confront the shark that is pre-destined to eat him. R100 through Webtickets.

[79] Repitwah Poetry Band (Elephant & Barrel 17h30-19h30): Wind down with this rhythmic and enthralling artist collective specialising in music and poetry. (To participate in the open mic email Roche on groundingsessions@gmail.com). R50 through Webtickets.

[80] Hitler, Verwoerd, Mandela and Me (Church Hall, 18h30-19h15): A performed reading of the best-selling memoir of sorts by Marianne Thamm. The 40-minute show will include stand-up comedy and an audio-visual ridicule of the 20th Century. R120 through Webtickets.

[81] You and I (Congregational Church, 18h30-19h15): Perhaps all literature comes down to this relationship: you and I. John Maytham reads excerpts from authors ranging from TS Eliot to Kurt Vonnegut, with forays into Nietzsche and Cole Porter, highlighting the intimate, angry and sometimes solipsistic connection between writer and reader. Compiled by Finuala Dowling. R120 through Webtickets.

[81a] Autumn music weekend Concert #3: Candlelight Soirée: Songs my mother taught me (Café Bon Bon, Saturday @ 18h30 for 19h00).

Pianist Christopher Duigan plays light classics that evoke a bygone world of nostalgia associated with salon music and evenings at the family piano. Included are Brahms's 'Waltz in A-flat', Dvorak's 'Humoresque', Rubenstein's 'Melody in F' and 'The Maiden's Prayer'. R600 includes a three-course meal. Book at Café Bon Bon: 021 876 3936.

[82] Jazz in the hall (Church Hall, 20h00-22h00): Chill with a glass or two of wine and some fine sounds from one of Cape Town's top modern jazz bands: with Reza Khota on guitar, Buddy Wells on sax, Shane Cooper on bass and Jonno Sweetman on drums. R120 through Webtickets.

Private function: Dinner Jenny Crwys-Williams (Pierneef)

Enjoy dinner with some of the cream of festival authors in one of SA's top restaurants, with Porcupine Ridge wines. Authors at all tables, party atmosphere, great winelands food. Email bookings@jennyandco.co.za.

SUNDAY 21 May

SUNDAY 10h00-11h00

[83] Does the ANC deserve a future? (New School Hall): As South Africa witnesses apparently unending turmoil within the ANC, Justice Malala asks Khulu Mbatha (Why the ANC Failed to Govern), Pieter-Louis Myburgh (The Republic of Gupta) and Ralph Mathekga (When Zuma Goes) if they think the party can, or should, survive.

[84] Rattling the cage of discrimination (Old School Hall): Sifiso Ndlovu (The Thabo Mbeki I Know), Anastacia Tomson (Always Anastacia), Griffin Shea and Marianne Thamm (Hitler, Verwoerd and Me) interrogate the systems that divide South Africans, and how we can dismantle them.

[85] Real change, right now (Church Hall): Zahira Asmal in conversation with Jay Naidoo (Change: Organising Tomorrow, Today) and Paul Hoffman (Confronting the Corrupt) about why (and what) significant, immediate, action must be taken to save our country, and what will happen if we ignore the urgency.

[86] From plot to print and beyond (Congregational Church): Kate Sidley asks Gail Schimmel (The Park), Jennifer Friedman (Queen of the Freestate) and Richard Mason (Who Killed Piet Barol?) about the path they've followed from conceptualising their books, to getting them into print, and then into the public eye and hands.

[87] A few good editors (Council Chamber): Alison Lowry and fellow editors Helen Moffett, Phehello Mofokeng and Thabiso Mahlape discuss the consistent criticism around the literary world of 'poor editing' and the state of the industry in South Africa.

[88] Choosing what to remember (Hospice Hall): Shamim Meer asks Bridget Hilton-Barber (Student Comrade Prisoner Spy) and Sam Scarborough (Trapped) how they decided what to leave in and what to take out when writing their memoirs.

[89] From 500 words to 50 000 (Elephant & Barrel): Thandeka Gqubule finds out about the different challenges of writing journalism and writing books, with Marita van der Vyver, Paul McNally and Rian Malan.

SUNDAY 10h00 – 12h00

[90] Workshop: Hide & Seek Poetry (The Hub) Sometimes the writing comes easily, but what do you do when the spring dries up or you have more sand than compost in your head? Come and learn to hunt and gather words at a two-hour poetry workshop with poets Jolyn Phillips and Karin Schimke. Tickets R120 through Webtickets.

SUNDAY 11h30 – 12h30

[91] Sophie Hannah in her own words (New School Hall): Travel writer and shameless fan Darrel Bristow-Bovey finds out more about one of the UK's most successful crime writers, Sophie Hannah (Closed Casket, The Narrow Bed).

[92] Mastering the past (Old School Hall): Historian Bill Nasson (History Matters), with Fred Khumalo (Dancing the Death Drill), Philippe Sands (East West Street) and Tim Butcher (The Trigger), consider the challenges and obligations of understanding the past.

SUNDAY 11h30 – 12h30

[93] Playing with words (Hospice Hall): On knowing the rules of writing, and how to break them: Sue de Groot tests the boundaries of poets Blaq Pearl and Shirmoney Rhode (Nommer 20 Delphi Straat), and novelist Claire Robertson (The Magistrate of Gower).

[94] The author as chemist (Congregational Church): Ann Donald asks Ekow Duker (The God Who Made Mistakes), Joanne Harris (Different Class) and Michael Sears aka half of Michael Stanley (the Detective Kubu series) how they balance the elements of plot, character and theme to create literary page-turners.

[95] Writing my family: (Council Chamber): Negotiating the path between family sensitivities and the author's right to write the story as they choose is a skill that Daniel Browde, Neil Sonnekus and Philippa Namutebi Kabali-Kagwa have all developed. They tell Hagen Engler how they did it.

[96] Can South Africa escape the poverty trap? (Church Hall): Peter Bruce talks economics, policy and education with Brian Kantor, Jeremy Seekings and Nicoli Natrass.

[97] Armchair refs (Elephant & Barrel): Sometime sportswriters Carlos Amato and Tom Eaton lob a few balls around the patchy pitch of sports journalism and commentary in South Africa — whether on the page, the small screen or the airwaves.

SUNDAY 12h15

[97a] Autumn music weekend concert #4: Trio Frontier play Beethoven and Brahms (NGK Church)
Trio Frontier – Junnan Sun (clarinet) and Aristide du Plessis (cello) with pianist Christopher Duigan – play Beethoven's youthful Trio in B-flat Op. 11, contrasted with the Brahms Trio Op. 114, one of the composer's most touching and beautiful 'twilight' works. Book at Webtickets or pay at the door. Tickets at the door: R100.

SUNDAY 13h00 – 14h00

[98] Is it hard writing for easy reading? (New School Hall): From popular fiction to incisive commentary to evocative columns, the best writers make it seem effortless, but how much mental sweat goes into achieving this end? Alison Lowry asks two very different authors: Lesley Pearse and Rian Malan.

[99] The price of honesty (Old School Hall): Speaking your mind, sharing your thoughts, talking truth to power — the risks for those who dare are great in a Twitterised world. Steven Boykey Sidley asks Lerato Tshabalala, Rafique Gangat and Zapiro how they have handled personal attacks.

[100] What we can learn from novels? (Church Hall): Richard Mason asks Greg Fried, Lisa Lazarus and Sally Andrew about the extraordinary things fiction can teach readers of all ages.

[101] The funny thing about writing (Congregational Church): How easy is it to write funny, and how and why do writers use humour to get a message across? Rebecca Davis asks Fred Khumalo, Gail Schimmel and Paige Nick.

[102] What publishers want (Council Chamber): In preparation for next year's projected Porcupine's Den event (think 'Dragon's Den' for writers), would-be authors get to pick the brains of publishers Ester Levinrad (Jonathan Ball), Phehello Mofokeng (Geko Books) and Thabiso Mahlape (BlackBird Books), led by Colleen Higgs (Modjaji Books). Other publishers are welcome to attend and weigh in on the discussion.

SUNDAY 13h00 – 14h00

[103] My first novel (Hospice Hall): First-time novelists Fiona Melrose and Kiprop Kimutai share the pain and the pride of getting their first books on the shelf, with Carol Mashigo in the chair.

SUNDAY 13h00 – 14h00

[104] The polylinguists (Elephant & Barrel) Tom Dreyer asks Abubakar Adam Ibrahim (English/Hausa), Jennifer Friedman (English/Afrikaans) and Jolyn Phillips (English/Afrikaans/French) whether the ability to speak and write in different languages is a help or a hindrance?

[105] Autumn music weekend concert #5: Bon Bon Finale (Café Bon Bon, Sunday 13h00).

After the meal, Junnan Sun (clarinet), Aristide du Plessis (cello) and Christopher Duigan (piano) play afternoon music by JS Bach, Saint-Saëns, Bella-Kovacs, Piazzolla and the evergreen 'The Swan' from 'Carnival of the Animals' for a spirited festival music finale. R500 includes a three-course meal. Book at Café Bon Bon: 021 876 3936.